January Civic Action

All-America City

The All-America City Award spurs communities to evaluate their progress, break down local silos and celebrate their successes to date. Described by George H. Gallup as the "Nobel Prize for constructive citizenship," the Award celebrates exemplary grassroots community problem-solving and is given to communities that come together to tackle the pressing challenges and achieve stunning results.

Honoring the life of Victor R. Jose

Longtime National Civic League member, Vic Jose from Richmond, Indiana, passed away on December, 5 2014. He was the co-founder of an innovative and effective summer reading program in Richmond that was part of their 2009 winning All-America City application. We will miss his volunteer spirit and vision for helping children succeed in school and in life. View here for his obituary.

National Civic League Website Update

The National Civic League and All-America City Award websites are both currently under construction as we in the process of consolidating them. We apologize for the inconvenience and encourage you to reach out to NCL staff at (303) 571-4343 if you need any information in the meantime.
